SOLAR TECHNICIAN TRAINING EMPOWERS YOUTH

In partnership with Wind Academy, we sponsored 10 students from the Dibeng community to participate in a Solar Excite course.

This intensive five-day programme was designed to equip participants with the knowledge and skills necessary for sizing, assessing, and installing solar PV systems, catering to the needs of individuals, organisations, and small businesses.

"We thoroughly enjoyed working with this group—their enthusiasm and engagement were palpable. We're excited to witness their growth both as individuals and as contributors to their community," said the leading facilitator.

CELEBRATING TEEN COACHES' GRADUATION

A graduation ceremony for the teen coaches who actively participated in the Ubuntu School Project under the guidance of Mayine Development Institute, took place recently. Subsequently, four of the teen coaches initiated their practical work within local schools, collaborating with the assistance of Social Workers from Boipelo Resources, a local social support business.

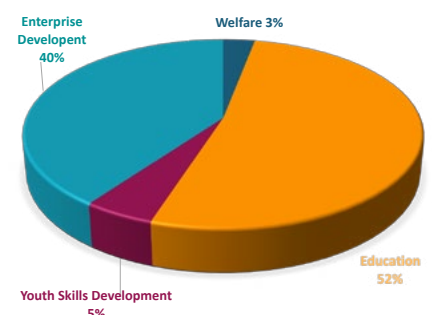

The Teen Coaching Programme is designed to provide psycho-social support and develop mentors to empower children and teenagers within the local schools. This helps them understand the impact of their choices to build a meaningful life.

EMPOWERING GIRLS: UBUNTU SCHOOL PROJECT GIRL EFFECT CAMP

We once again supported the Girl Effect Camp, aimed at empowering young girls from local schools through self-development.

Ten girls from Ubuntu Schools were chosen for this transformative experience, focusing on equitable education and healthcare access to enhance their well-being and empowerment, streamlined for conciseness.
